Fall Book Sale Opens Nov. 6

The Friends of the UA Library will hold its Fall Book Sale from November 6-20 in the atrium of the Main Library. The sale will feature a large selection of used books, DVDs, CDs, record albums, magazines and more. Most books are priced from 25¢ to $2.

A special members-only presale will be held on the first day, Sunday, November 6 from noon- 1 p.m.

On the final day, Sunday, November 20, Friends members can fill a paper grocery bag with books for just $5. Nonmembers can purchase a bag for $10.

Hearing Loop Installed in Friends Theater

Thanks to recent donations, the Main Library's Friends Theater is now equipped with a hearing loop. Users of compatible T-coil hearing aids will be able to receive audio directly from the room's PA system, drastically reducing background noise and allowing individual adjustment of volume level.

To use this system, hearing aid users should switch to "T-Mode" or "T+M" mode.

NorWest Flower Show Returns to the Main Library

NorWest Garden Clubs are sponsoring "Autumn Joy," a Standard Flower Show which will be held at the Upper Arlington Main Library on October 22-23. The show will feature three divisions: horticulture, design and special exhibits. Special exhibits feature educational exhibits and garden photography.

All amateur gardeners are invited to enter the show. Complete details can be found in the flower show schedule which will be available on our website at www.ualibrary.org on September 1. Those interested may also contact Winnie Garabis of Serendipity Garden Club for more information at (614) 486-1324. Information about joining a local garden club will also be available at the Show.

In the 1950s, garden clubs in the area bounded by Bethel Road, Olentangy River Road, Goodale Boulevard and Dublin Road formed the NorWest Garden Club Association.

The first NorWest Flower Show was held in 1951 with more than 20 sponsoring clubs. Shows were held annually in the Upper Arlington area for almost 30 years. The number of garden clubs in the area has decreased, with the current show being sponsored by just four clubs.

Understanding Adolescents and Their Emotional Development

Tuesday, September 20 at 10 a.m. Adults
Friends Theater; 60 min. No registration

From the onset of adolescence stems a voyage through astonishing and overwhelming developmental changes. Both parents and teens alike can feel out of control during this journey. Increased understanding of adolescent brain functioning can help navigate teens' changes in moods, improve relationships, and reduce distress experienced both by adolescents and adults.

Working Without a Net While Parenting Adolescents

Tuesday, October 18 at 10 a.m. Adults
Friends Theater; 60 min. No registration

The allure of an audience, the thrill of the risk — the same intrigue of a tight rope act fuels the basic drive of adolescence. Learn how to manage appropriate developmental expectations and understand common adolescent stressors. Discover how to work with adolescents to weave a safety net (even if they don't think they need it) while fostering successful transitions toward independence.

Marijuana: Facts, Risks & How to Prevent Use

Thursday, November 3 at 7 p.m. Adults
Friends Theater; 60 min. No registration

You may have heard a variety of claims about marijuana in the media or in everyday conversation. As a parent, making sense of conflicting messages related to pot can be confusing. Accurate and balanced information is more complex than simple statements. This presentation will provide factual information based on scientific research. Facilitators will also provide strategies about how to talk with your children about marijuana and other drugs. In addition, learn about local and national trends related to substance use among our youth. Understand what factors put our youth at risk for use and what we as a community can do to strengthen protective factors to prevent or delay the onset of using substances.

Helping Your Child Develop Coping Skills

Tuesday, November 15 at 10 a.m. Adults

Wicked Columbus with Author David Meyers

Wednesday, October 19 at 1 p.m. Adults
Friends Theater; 60 min. No registration

In the early 20th century, the "Bad Lands" of Columbus were once as well-known as New York's "Tenderloin," Chicago's "Black Belt," or Detroit's "Heights," and its uncrowned king was Alexander "Smoky" Hobbs. However, vice was not confined to one neighborhood as exemplified by the unlikely love affair between local gambler Pat Murnan and Grace Backenstoe, the madam of the most popular brothel in town. Corruption was rampant during this era, extending all the way from city hall to the statehouse to Washington D.C., and Roxie Stinson, a local music teacher with the chorus girl figure, played a key role in bringing it all to light. These are just a few of the characters Columbus resident David Meyers profiles in his book, Wicked Columbus, Ohio.

Book Circle: The Wright Brothers

Wednesday, October 19 at 1:30 p.m. Adults
Meeting Room B; 90 min. No registration

Join us for an informal discussion of The Wright Brothers by David McCullough.

Art History: The Harlem Renaissance

Part 1: Friday, October 21 at 1 p.m. Adults
Part 2: Friday, November 11 at 1 p.m. No registration
Friends Theater; 60 min.

The Harlem Renaissance was an important cultural movement in the 1920s and 30s. In part 1, we look at the art of two of its most prominent male artists, Jacob Lawrence and Aaron Douglas. Both men integrated Modernism and traditional African motifs into their Jazz Age paintings and sculptures. We will analyze each artist's work and discuss the challenges they faced as African-American artists in that era. In part 2, we focus on two female artists, sculptor Augusta Savage and painter Lois Mailou Jones. These women faced significant hurdles in their careers, both as women and African-Americans. Their work is fascinating for how it addresses these issues while integrating Modernism, traditional African artistic elements and their own unique visions. These sessions are presented by CCAD instructor Ann Shifflet.

NorWest Garden Clubs "Autumn Joy" Standard Flower Show

October 22-23 All ages
Atrium No registration

The NorWest Flower Show returns to the Main Library to showcase the talents of local gardeners. Divisions include horticulture, design and special exhibits such as education and photography. The show schedule will be available on our website on September 1.

Writers' Conference Returns to Main Library on October 15

The Upper Arlington Cultural Arts Division, the Upper Arlington Recreation Department and the Library are teaming up again to present "The Write Stuff."

This day of information and inspiration for writers will be held at the UA Main Library on Saturday, October 15.

An expo of local publishers and organizations will be held in the atrium from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Talks by several local writers will be held throughout the day. See below for the complete schedule. Most sessions are scheduled for 45 minutes with the exception of the "Whiskey-5 Hotel: Nonfiction Writing Workshop" which may last up to 2 hours.

Registration opens on September 1 for all sessions.

Creative to Analytical: Editing Your Fiction

10:30 a.m. in the Friends Theater

Learn how to analyze your completed draft by bringing out its strengths, finding your unique voice, and cutting words that get in the way. Faith Van Horne, a freelance editor who worked as a content editor for a New York Times bestselling e-publisher, will share common problems editors see and show you how to spot them in your own work.

Scene Writing

10:30 a.m. in Meeting Room B

Scenes are the bricks that build your novel or short story. Karen Harper, New York Times and USA TODAY bestselling author of contemporary suspense and historical fiction, shares secrets for writing scenes that will rivet your reader and weave your story.

Improving Your Fiction

11:30 a.m. in the Friends Theater

Karen Harper shares some of her suggestions and insights for strengthening your fiction, whether you write for a private audience or publication. Using setting as character, pacing, dialogue and description will also be covered.

Editing Your Fiction: Hands-On Workshop

11:30 a.m. & 1:30 p.m. in Meeting Room B

Apply techniques discussed in the "Creative to Analytical" session with Faith Van Horne. Exchange a completed scene with another writer and give helpful feedback to one another. Then incorporate that feedback and other techniques to create a knockout scene. You must bring a completed draft of a scene to participate in this session.

Mining Your Memories

1:30 p.m. in Meeting Room A

Jody Casella will lead you through thought-provoking exercises to help you turn real-life experiences into great fiction. Jody is the author of Thin Space, which received a starred review from Kirkus and was a finalist on the 2014-15 Florida Teens Read List.

Whiskey-5 Hotel: Thoughts on Writing Nonfiction

1:30 p.m. in the Friends Theater

Join David Meyers, author of Kahiki Supper Club, Look to Lazarus and other books on local history, for a discussion of the nuts and bolts of nonfiction writing. By following his tips and suggestions, you will be able to boldly go (or is it "to go boldly"?) where many other nonfiction authors have gone before – even without a degree in journalism.

Digging Up Story Bones

2:30 p.m. in Meeting Room A

So you've written your story, but now you aren't sure what you have... or what to do next. Attend this session for a fun, visual strategy for structuring a creative piece, with hands-on coaching by Jody Casella.

Whiskey-5 Hotel: Nonfiction Writing Workshop

2:30 p.m. in Meeting Room B

If you feel you have a book inside you, but are having trouble getting it out, join David Meyers for a nonfiction writing workshop that is light on work, but heavy on fun. David is a student in the learn-by-doing school and is happy to share some of the techniques he has happened upon for sharpening your writing skills.

Research Skills for Writers

2:30 p.m. in the Friends Theater

Whether they need background information for a plot or accurate information for a nonfiction work, writers need to find specific details in a veritable sea of information. Learn more about finding reliable resources, and discover the strategies and tools librarians use to find answers with Reference Librarian Megan Sheeran.

Grounded and Laughing: The Poetry of Place

3:30 p.m. in the Friends Theater

Two of award winner Rikki Santer's poetry collections have celebrated place: Front Nine (the Hopewell earthworks of Newark) and Kahiki Redux (the late Kahiki Supper Club). In this session, you'll savor examples of poets exploring location from varying perspectives, and then compose your own poem about a place that is special for you.

Drop-In Research Help

3:30 p.m. in Meeting Room A

Is there a research question that's dragging down your story? Are you uncertain where to look for your nonfiction topic? Drop in with your query and get some pointers from an expert. Depending on the difficulty of your question, Reference Librarian Megan Sheeran can help you find either the answer, a more fruitful approach, or a solid new resource.

Every Breath You Take Film Series: The Lives of Others

Sunday, October 23 at 2 p.m.

Friends Theater; 2½ hrs.

Adults

No registration

In this German film, an East Berlin Stasi officer conducting surveillance on a playwright and his actress lover finds himself becoming unexpectedly sympathetic to and increasingly absorbed by their lives. Film scholar Steve Hunt presents. (Rated R, 2006)

A Few Notes on Streaming Music

Wednesday, October 26 at 7 p.m.

Meeting Room B; 60 min.

Adults and teens

No registration

Streaming services have changed the way we listen to music by making (almost) all of the songs available all of the time. We'll talk about the major services like Spotify and Apple Music plus several you can access for free through the library. Then we'll dive into tips for finding music and how to listen without burning through your data plan.

The Ohio State University in the Sixties

Wednesday, October 26 at 7 p.m.

Friends Theater; 60 min.

Adults

Registration opens September 1

In the spring of 1970 growing student protests forced the Ohio State University to close entirely for two weeks — an event unprecedented in the institution's 100 year history. How could a campus that previously seemed immune to the unrest sweeping other campuses go off the tracks so far and so quickly? Join Bill Shkurti for a discussion of his newest book The Ohio State University in the Sixties: The Unraveling of the Old Order. Using news stories, archival materials and personal interviews, Shkurti has reconstructed the unique circumstances of those tumultuous times into a compelling narrative. Copies of the book will be available for purchase and signing.

Author Bill Clegg to Visit Upper Arlington on Oct. 2

The Upper Arlington Author Series is thrilled to welcome Bill Clegg, author of Did You Ever Have a Family, to Upper Arlington High School on Sunday, October 2 at 2 p.m.

Tickets to Clegg's visit are available via a link on our website at www.ualibrary.org. Ticket prices are $35, $25 and $15, with student tickets available for $10.

A reception featuring light refreshments will be held immediately following the talk at the high school. This special event provides a chance to chat with the author and attend a book signing. The cost of a reception ticket is $25. All proceeds from the reception will benefit the Ann Royce Moore Fund at the UA Community Foundation to bring authors to the community.

Books will be available for purchase from Barnes & Noble at the event with a portion of the proceeds going to the Ann Royce Moore Fund.

Clegg's novel Did You Ever Have a Family was published in 2015. It was longlisted for both the National Book Award and the Man Booker Prize in 2015.

Bill Clegg is also the author of the memoirs Portrait of an Addict as a Young Man and Ninety Days. He has written for The New York Times, Esquire, The Guardian, New York Magazine and Harper's Bazaar.

The Upper Arlington Author Series has become a signature community event thanks to the sponsorship of the Ann Royce Moore Fund at the Upper Arlington Community Foundation, the Upper Arlington Public Library, the Upper Arlington Rotary and the Friends of the Upper Arlington Public Library.

Listen Columbus Streaming Service Debuts This Fall

This fall you'll have easy access to the best local musicians. The Upper Arlington Library is creating Listen Columbus, a digital collection of music available only to cardholders. Like a farmer's market helps people connect with local food, Listen Columbus will help patrons discover talented musicians who live and perform in Central Ohio.

Launching in early October, Listen Columbus will feature music from local musicians including Angela Perley and the Howlin' Moons, Grassahol, The Salty Caramels, and The Spikedrivers.

Patrons can access the Listen Columbus collection by visiting www.listencolumbus.org on a computer, smartphone or tablet. Sign in with your library card to stream or download each song or an entire album. The music is always available, with no due dates.

"We created Listen Columbus to make it easy for our patrons to discover great, local musicians," said Kevin Bauer, the Library's Emerging Technologies Librarian. "There is so much music available on the Internet, it can be overwhelming. Listen Columbus will help UA Library patrons find music they enjoy, from musicians who perform locally."

"We are thrilled to be a part of Listen Columbus," said Paige Vandiver of The Salty Caramels. "Libraries are such an important part of learning and entertainment for all ages, and to see local music becoming a larger part of that is an inspiring development for our community."

Follow Listen Columbus on Twitter (@listencolumbus) and Facebook to learn more about the project and to find information about local concerts.

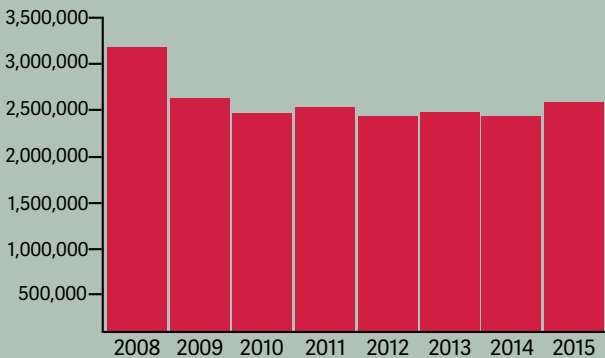

Library Levy Renewal FAQ

On November 8, the Upper Arlington Public Library is seeking a renewal of our existing operating levy. Here are answers to some questions you may have about the levy. More detailed information will be available this fall.

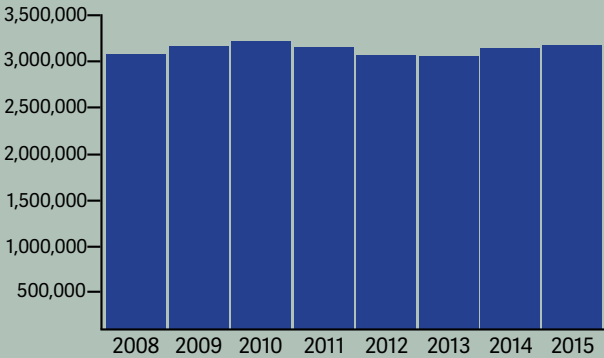

- Q: What is the Library asking for on the November 8 ballot?
- A: We are seeking a six-year renewal of the existing 2-mill operating levy. The levy was first approved by Upper Arlington voters in May 2007 and was renewed in 2012. It would generate approximately 54% of the funds needed to operate our library system over the next six years.
- Q: Will this raise my property taxes?
- A: No. It is a renewal levy, so your taxes will be assessed at the same rate as they have been since 2007. Currently Upper Arlington homeowners are paying $56.47 per $100,000 of home value to support the Upper Arlington Public Library. This is just 2% of the total property taxes Upper Arlington homeowners pay.

- Q: Why is this needed? Don't you get funds from the state?
- A: We do receive funds from the State of Ohio's Public Library Fund. However, in 2009 our state funding was cut by 18% and has never been recouped. State funds now make up less than half of what is needed to serve our community. We rely on local funding now more than ever. Upper Arlington voters have supported our local library since 1992 with a local property tax levy in addition to State Funding.

Our Revenue from the Public Library Fund

Our Revenue from Property Taxes

- Q: Can you get money in other ways? What about cutting costs?
- A: We pursue supplemental funding whenever we can, such as providing fee-based services to other libraries, collecting fees for passport processing, and through private donations and grants. We also belong to several consortia that provide opportunities to save money on items and services we purchase. We continually review our operations to look for ways to save money. For example, by upgrading our lighting and HVAC systems, purchasing utilities through co-operative contracts, and joining the City and Schools to publish the UA Insight newsletter, we are saving almost $80,000 per year.
